“We are extremely happy to support such a worthy cause, one we have been behind since its inception,” said Scott Shone, president of Ophthalmic Instruments, Inc. “Since 2004, the Major Rob Soltes Memorial Golf Tournament has been raising money to support eye care services in the name of Dr. Rob Soltes who was the first U.S. Army Optometrist to be killed in action. In 2011, the Major Rob Soltes Memorial Blinded Veterans Association began supporting the Operation Peer Support Program of the BVA and their support has grown every year. I knew Rob, personally, and still keep in touch with his family so we are happy to play a role in this program.”
